Gina Carano responds to Ronda Rousey's UFC proposal On June 14, former UFC champion Ronda Rousey gave her terms for returning to the Octagon. "There's only one person ... there's only one person ... there's not like it's something new. [I'd come back] for Gina, man—Gina Carano." Now, just a week later Carano has voiced her thoughts on the potential match-up between two of the sports biggest icons. "You know what? Just never put it past me. It could happen," Carano said on Saturday in an appearance on Unfiltered with Dan Bongino to promote her new movie with Terror on the Prairie. "It would be six months from now because I have a lot of stuff I need to do I really want to create, I want to direct, I want to direct, I want to direct, I want to give Ronda Rousey a job in one of my movies so maybe there is something we can do there." The match-up actually happening is low, but like Jim Carrey says in Dumb and Dumber, "You're telling me there's a chance." Francis Ngannou gives optimistic timeframe for UFC return Ronda Rousey would return to MMA for a fight against Gina Carano Nigerian-American mixed martial artist (born 1987) Kamaru UsmanBornKamarudeen Usman[1] (1987-05-11) May 11, 1987 (age 35)Auchi, NigeriaNickname(s)The Nigerian NightmareNationalityNigerian AmericanHeight6 ft 0 in (1.83 m)Weight170 lb (77 kg; 12 st 2 lb)DivisionWelterweightReach76 in (193 cm)[2]Fighting out ofFort Lauderdale, Florida, U.S.TeamBlackzilians (2011-2017) Sanford MMA (2017-2020, 2022-present)[3][4][5] Onx Sports (2020-present)[3][4][5] Onx S (striking)[6]RankBlack belt in Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu under Jorge Santiago[7]WrestlingNCAA Division II Wrestling[8]Years active2010-2012 (freestyle wrestling) 2012-present (MMA)Mixed martial arts recordTotal21Wins20By knockout9By submission1By decision10Losses1By submission1 Mixed martial arts record from Sherdog Medal record Collegiate Wrestling Representing the Nebraska-Kearney Lopers NCAA Division II National Championships 2010 Omaha 174 lbs 2009 Houston 174 lbs 2009 competes in the welterweight division of the Ultimate Fighter 21 tournament winner. As of September 27, 2021, he is #1 in the UFC men's pound-for-pound rankings.[9] As a wrestler, Usman primarily competed at 84 kilograms (185 lb), and was a 2010 US University World Team Member.[10] Collegiately, he competed at 174 pounds (79 kg), and was the 2010 NCAA DII All-American and a NAIA National qualifier.[11][2] Background Usman was born in Auchi, Nigeria.[13] His father was a major in the Nigerian Army and his mother was a teacher.[14][15][16] He has two brothers, Kashetu and Mohammed, the latter of whom is a mixed martial artist.[17] Usman struggled with squalid poverty and a life of destitution in his environment during his childhood.[18] Usman's father Muhammed Nasiru Usman, who became a pharmacist in the United States, brought his family into the country when Usman was eight years old, immigrating to Dallas, Texas. [19] Wrestling career Usman started wrestling in his sophomore year in high school, at Bowie High School in Arlington, Texas. Because Usman's wrestling coach at the time had trouble pronouncing his first name Kamarudeen, he got the nickname "Marty" when he joined the team and it stuck with him during his amateur wrestled in Iowa at William Penn University for one year, Is a senior and placing third at the senior national tournament before leaving for college, Usman wrestled in Iowa at William Penn University for one year, where he was an NAIA national tournament qualifier in 2007, but was unable to attend the tournament due to a snowstorm; half of his team and influenced him to leave William Penn.[23] He later transferred to the University of Nebraska at Kearney (UNK), which had previously tried to recruit him under advisement of then-UNK wrestler Tervel Dlagnev, and subsequently helped the Lopers win their first-ever team title in 2008.[23] Usman placed top three in the national champion at 174 pounds in 2010, finishing the season with a 44-1 record and 30 straight wins.[25] Shortly after his folkstyle career was over, Usman turned his attention to freestyle wrestling and became a resident of the University World Team in 2010, Usman was sidetracked by injuries and eventually abandoned his Olympic goal after failing to qualify for the 2012 US Olympic Team Trials, turning his attention to mixed martial arts instead. [28][29] Former National Football League (NFL) star Christian Okoye, who has the nickname "The Nigerian Nightmare" trademarked, gave his blessing for Usman to use it.[30] Mixed martial arts career Professional MMA career On 2011, Usman served as the wrestling coach for Team Miller in The Ultimate Fighter season fourteen.[31] After failing to qualify for the 2012 US Olympic Team Trials in freestyle wrestling, Usman made his professional MMA debut in November 2012.[32] He compiled a record of 5-1, competing for several regional promotions before trying out for The Ultimate Fighter in early 2015.[33][34] The Ultimate Fighter Selected to be on The Ultimate Fighter 21.[34] In his TUF debut and guarterfinal bout of the bracket, Usman faced undefeated eventual Titan FC Welterweight Champion Michael Graves. He won the fight via majority decision.[35] In the semifinals, Usman faced off against long-time veteran and former WSOF Welterweight Champion Steve Carl. He won the fight via unanimous decision and advanced to the finals.[36] In the semifinals, Usman faced off against long-time veteran and former WSOF Welterweight Champion Steve Carl.
